SHELTON NEARS CAPITAL CAMPAIGN GOAL

Shelton State has raised $1.1 million dollars as part of the $1.2 million goal established for the college's Capital Campaign, according to Rick Rogers, assistant to the president. The money raised will be used to buy furniture and equipment for the college's new campus.

Several large gifts have been made to the campaign recently. AmSouth Bank and First Alabama Bank pledged their support recently with a gift from both institutions.

"The college is very appreciative for the continued support from our friends at AmSouth and First Alabama banks. Sam Faucett and Carl Albright understand the importance of a quality education and their generosity is another example of their commitment to the community and citizens of West Alabama," said Shelton President Tom Umphrey.

INDUSTRIAL MAINTENANCE TECHNOLOGY

The Center for Advanced Productivity, a division of Shelton State Community College, announces the opening of the Industrial Maintenance Technology (IMT) certificate program. The 26 credit hour program has been carefully designed to train the individual in multi-skilled industrial maintenance. A student may enroll in one or more courses at a time. Courses are scheduled three months in advance with availability dependent upon student enrollment. Both day and evening classes are available. All applicants must have a high school diploma or GED certificate. For an interview, call 391-2434.

POLICY

PLEASE NOTE: THIS POLICY IS TAKEN FROM PAGE 25 OF THE COLLEGE CATALOG.

Visitors should be able to demonstrate a valid purpose for being on campus. They are expected to abide by the regulations of the institution. Shelton students are held responsible for their guests' conduct. WHILE CHILDREN ARE ON CAMPUS, THEY SHOULD BE UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THEIR PARENTS.

IN THE ABSENCE OF A WRITTEN POLICY, NON-REGISTERED

INDIVIDUALS ARE NOT ALLOWED IN THE CLASSROOM UNLESS THE VISIT IS APPROVED BY THE INSTRUCTOR AND IT IS ON A ONE-TIME BASIS only. Children are not allowed to attend classes with parents. Individual instructors as well as the student attending the class will be expected to follow the policy. Again, those not following the policy will be asked to leave the campus.

TERRIFIC TUESDAYS COMING THIS FALL

The Monday Concert Series will change this fall to Terrific Tuesday Concerts. Terrific Tuesdays will be MUS 100 and will be offered on Tuesdays from 1-2 p.m.

In addition the music department will offer guitar classes this fall. Beginning guitar MUS 147-01 will meet Wednesdays and Fridays from 12 noon - 1 p.m. It is a two-hour course. Intermediate Guitar MUS 148-01 will be taught Wednesdays and Fridays from 1-2 p.m. and is a two-hour course. Students need an acoustic guitar for either class.

NEW QUALITY COUNCIL PUT TO WORK

Shelton's new Quality Council has gone to work. The QC members met on July 1 for an orientation session and they now meet every two weeks on Tuesday afternoons. Minutes of all meetings will be available through the library. During the July 9 meeting, the QC saw a short video on the dynamics of change. A discussion followed about the QC's role in helping the college understand and adjust to the impending organizational changes resulting from numerous retirements.

The QC got a preview of the new book by Dr. Stanley Spanbauer, REENGINEERING EDUCATION WITH QUALITY. Shelton state is one of 11 institutions featured in the new book. During the meeting, it was pointed out that the last chapter addresses the challenges of maintaining the momentum of quality in the midst of organizational change. The QC's challenge is to motivate, stimulate, and encourage the five SI teams to work toward improving systems and processes.

During the July 23 meeting, the QC discussed the role of the QC in relation to the Vice President's Council (VPAC). The Quality Council's focus will be primarily on "Process Improvement" while the VPAC will focus more on "strategic planning and policy." Quality council representatives from the five Systems Improvement (SI) teams gave a brief status on their respective teams. The QC hopes to have a retreat in the near future to work on team building.

The new QC is a lively, enthusiastic, and motivated group. Everyone shares the same objective, improving the quality of the services we provide our students, employees, and the community. After all, these people are our reason for being here.

LECTURE HALL NOW COMPLETED

SHELTON'S new lecture hall is completed and seats 235 people. The hall is designed to hold large lecture groups, special meetings and distance learning classes.

The lecture hall will have the capability to hold teleconferences and workshops and will be available for college functions, community programs and business industry sessions. The special equipment was purchased with funds from the college's Capital Campaign and through a grant from the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).
